THE GREAT
KIDNEY REGULATOR
AND DIURETIC.

KIDNEGEN is highly recommended and unsurpassed for WEAK or FOUL KIDNEYS, DROPSY, BRIGHT'S DISEASE, LOSS of ENERGY, NERVOUS DEBILITY, or any OBSTRUCTIONS arising from GRAVEL or BLADDER DISEASES. Also for YELLOW FEVER, BLOOD and KIDNEY POISONING, in infected malarial sections.

By the distillation of a FOREST LEAF with JUNIPER BERRIES and BARLEY MALT we have discovered KIDNEGEN, which acts specifically on the Kidneys and Urinary Organs, removing deposits in the Bladder and any straining, smarting, heat or irritation in the water passages, giving them strength, vigor and causing a healthy color and easy flow of urine. It can be taken at all times, in all climates, without injury to the system. Unlike any other preparation for Kidney difficulties, it has a very pleasant and agreeable taste and flavor. It contains positive diuretic properties and will not nauseate. Ladies especially will like it and Gentlemen will find KIDNEGEN the best Kidney Tonic ever used!

NOTICE.—Each bottle bears the signature of LAWRENCE & MARTIN, also a Proprietary Government Stamp, which permits KIDNEGEN to be sold (without license) by druggists, grocers and other persons everywhere.

LAWRENCE & MARTIN, Prop'rs, Chicago, Ill.
Sold by Druggists, Grocers and Dealers everywhere.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin

The Lewiston Journal says: Col. Howard, who returned from Bemis, Tuesday, says there is three and a half feet of snow at that point, and it is now the best lumbering they have had this winter. There has been no rain in that region.

Messrs. R. C. Pingree & Co.'s homeward bound procession of woodsmen and teams arrived in Lewiston about seven o'clock, Saturday morning. There were twenty-seven horses and the drivers, coops, blacksmiths, yard hands, etc. They were loaded down with spruce gum, washing stacks and other jack-knife products. One of the men has developed so much jack-knife talent this winter, that he has won the sobriquet of "wood-butcher." Every horse and every man that went into the woods last December, have come out all right. They started from Wentworth's Location, four days ago, and couldn't make a very quick passage home. This crew has got out about two million feet of timber, this winter. Next on the programme will be the drive. If the ice keeps on wearing away as undemonstratively as it has for several days, the logs in the river are in no danger, and the lumber business will take an early start, this season.

Cumberland.

The total value of exports, from Portland, for the past week, is $167,505 37. Included in this are wheat, 16.000 bushels, peas, 27,462 bushels; lumber, 294,829 feet.

The dredger is at work in the Portland harbor, on the middle ground, which is in accordance with an act passed by the late legislature, permitting the commissioners to extend their line.

The Cumberland Rowing Association are to expend about $400 this spring in improving its boat house. The oarsmen will begin practice this week

The Portland Argus says: The proposed narrow gauge road starts at Bridgton and runs along the shore of Long Pond, in Naples, to its foot, thence crossing into Casco, through Raymond and Windham, crossing the Presumpscot river at its head into Gorham. Then it follows along the tow path of the Cumberland and Oxford canal, on the Gorham side, striking the Portland and Ogdensburg railroad at Gambo Fall, or the Portland and Rochester just above Saccarappa village. It is thought the terminus of the road for the present may be at one of these points. The distance from Bridgton to the last named points, should it stop there, will be 32 miles. But should it stop at Gambo Falls, and connect only with the Portland and Ogdensburg road, as many desire it to do, its length will be about 27 miles. One of the prominent objects in view, in the building of this road, is the development of the immense water power of Presumpscot river, increase the population and wealth of the communities through which it may pass, and thus increase the prosperity of the whole country. Already several large manufacturing companies have turned their attention to this road and have signified their desire to locate establishments on the river as soon as transportation can be obtained.

Kennebec.

The entertainment given by the Grammar school scholars in Augusta, last week, netted $87 05 to the school. Friday evening Mr. Robertson and his pupils repeated the operetta and the rest of the programme in Amusement Hall at the Insane Hospital. It was a treat both to participants and audience, and was highly appreciated by the Hospital folks.

The spring term of the Maine Wesleyan Seminary opens with an unusually large number of students. Dr. Torsey, much to the gratification of the students, is in his old place at the head of the school, and with his improved health promises long to be a power. The musical department under the energetic administration of Miss Pike, is prosperous, having nearly doubled its numbers during the year.

Knox.

DEATH OF EX-GOVERNOR CROSBY.

The telegraph has already announced the death of ex-Governor William George Crosby, at Belfast, Monday morning, at the age of 75. He was born at Belfast in 1806 and was the son of Judge William Crosby. The son (Wm. G.) graduated at Bowdoin in 1823, and after graduation successfully practiced law at Belfast. He was for nearly fifty years a prominent lawyer in Eastern Maine, and twenty-five years since was one of the most influential and highly respected men in the state. For the past fifteen years he has been in so poor health that he has not taken an active part in public affairs. In 1845 he was chosen Secretary of the Board of Education, and filled that office successfully for three years. In 1850 he was nominated by the Whigs as their candidate for Governor, when John Hubbard was elected by 800 majority over Crosby and Talbot (free-soiler). In 1851 there was no election in consequence of a change in the constitution. In 1852, Crosby was again the Whig candidate, Hubbard, and Chandler the two Democratic candidates, and Holmes the free-soil candidate. There being no choice by the people, Crosby was elected by the Senate after a sharp contest. In 1853 there was again a division in the Democratic ranks over the prohibitory law, and no election by the people, and Crosby, the Whig candidate, was again elected by the Senate. At the close of his term of office in January, 1855, he sided with the straight Whigs, but took no active part in politics. During the war he was a Union man, but at the close affiliated with Andrew Johnson, and was the candidate of the Johnson and Democratic party for Congress against Hon. F. A. Pike in 1866, but was beaten. At one time he was quite prominent among those who were most active in promoting the improvement of the public school system of Maine. He retired from law practice in 1870 and since then has lived quietly in the enjoyment of the esteem of his fellow-citizens.

THE FACTS ABOUT LEE'S SURRENDER.

Down in Virginia they are again discussing the question as to the surrender of Gen. Lee's sword at Appomattox, although the whole matter was authoritatively settled years ago. In the New York Herald of last Sunday a special despatch from Richmond revives the old controversy as follows:

[Special to N. Y. Herald.]

RICHMOND, Va., March 19, 1881. The Dispatch, of this city, will publish to-morrow the following correspondence in reference to a controversy as to the authenticity of the statement in "Holmes' School History" that "General Grant declined to receive General Lee's sword" at the surrender at Appomattox:

BUFFALO LITHIA SPRINGS, Va., March 11, 1881.

General U. S. Grant, New York:

SIR—In a friendly discussion between several gentlemen of Northern and Southern proclivities as to the truth of history a question arose whether General Lee at the surrender actually tendered and you received his sword. It was mutually agreed that you should be written to for a decision. There is no idle curiosity or desire for notoriety in regard to this request, and a reply from you would be highly appreciated. Very respectfully,

J. D. JEFFRESS.

General Badeau's book, now in the hands of the printer, will give the exact truth of the matter referred to in this letter. There was no demand made for General Lee's sword and no tender of it offered. U. S. GRANT.

In THE WHIG AND COURIER of March 6, 1877, in contradicting an erroneous statement on the subject we used the following language:

General Lee did not "surrender" his 'blood-stained sword' into anybody's hands at Appomattox, but on the contrary when Lee surrendered his army to Grant the latter declined to take his sword and added to the magnanimity by voluntarily inserting in the terms of capitulation an exemption of "the side-arms of (all), the officers and their horses and private baggage." As a matter of fact of which we have had authoritative information, General Lee came to the spot designated for the meeting of the two chieftains, wearing a splendid testimonial sword that had been presented to him, and doubtless intending that the weapon should become the historic emblem of the Lost Cause at the National Capital. General Grant prevented this by gracefully waiving the surrender of the sword of his vanquished foe, and hastily penciling the terms he demanded, passed the memorandum to Lee, who became visibly affected with emotion on perceiving the generosity with which all the officers of his command were to be treated by their conqueror. This is history.

This paragraph was quite extensively copied and found its way into the columns of the Richmond (Va.) Dispatch, of March 16th. On the next day some ardent disciple of the Lost Cause addressed the following letter to that paper:

[From the Richmond (Va.) Dispatch, March 17.]

LEE'S SWORD AT HIS SURRENDER.

Messrs. Editors: I am sorry that you allow to pass unchallenged the item in your paper this morning from the Bangor (Me.) WHIG about Grant's magnanimity in declining to receive Lee's sword, etc. Several years ago you published a letter from your correspondent "Viator," giving Gen. Lee's own account of the surrender, in which he denied most emphatically that he ever tendered his sword to Gen. Grant, or had any idea of doing so. In Personal Reminiscences of Lee there is also a full statement of Gen. Lee's own account of the surrender, the following extract from which settles the question: "Gen. Lee said that when he met General Grant they exchanged polite salutations, and he stated to him at once that he desired a conference in reference to the subject matter of their correspondence. 'Gen. Grant returned you your sword, did he not, General?' one of the company asked. The old hero, straightening himself up, replied in most emphatic tones: "No, Sir! he did not. He had no opportunity of doing so. I was determined that the side-arms of officers should be exempt by the terms of the surrender, and of course I did not offer him mine. All that was said about swords was that Gen. Grant apologized to me for not wearing his own sword, saying that it had gone off in his baggage, and he had been unable to get it in time.' This spoils a great deal of rhetoric about 'Grant's magnanimity in returning Lee's sword,' and renders as absurd as it is false the attempt of Northern artists to put the scene on canvass or into statuary. Even Gen. Grant's connivance at this so-called 'historic scene,' will not save it when the world knows that R. E. Lee said that nothing of the sort occurred. The sword scene, the "historic apple tree," &c., are mere inventions of army correspondents, which so please the fancy of the "saviors of the Union" that they are being constantly repeated. Grant's terms were magnanimous; but he knew full well that they were the only terms which Lee would have accepted. J. W. J.

Richmond, March 15, 1877.

In order to verify the correctness of our statement we addressed a letter to General Grant, March 20, 1877, enclosing the two newspaper extracts above quoted, and requesting him to settle this interesting matter of history concerning that memorable interview at Appomattox. The ex-President promptly and courteously replied confirming our statement as follows:

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 23, 1877.

C. A. BOUTELLE, Esq., Bangor:

The BANGOR WHIG AND COURIER'S account is strictly correct except in this: Nothing was said about swords, side-arms, baggage, or private horses, until I wrote the terms of surrender, in which I gave them, at which General Lee was much affected and said those terms would have a good effect upon his army.

He had on apparently an entirely new uniform and a magnificent sword—such as is not usually worn in the field—and it certainly left the impression that the expectation was to surrender it.

Nothing was said in the preliminary conversation to warrant the assumption that anything more was to be granted to the rebel army than that they were to be permitted to return to their homes on laying down their arms, and not to be molested in their person so long as they remained there and obeyed the laws in force thereat.

U. S. GRANT.

In a subsequent issue of our paper we published the above extracts with General Grant's letter and a consecutive account of the surrender with all the official documents that passed between Generals Grant and Lee. This comprehensive history of the "Surrender at Appomattox" was forwarded to Gen. Grant at Galena, Ill., and he had it published in the Galena Gazette of April 13, 1877, with his endorsement of its accuracy.

"DISTRICT REPRESENTATION."

[From the New York Tribune.]

There is a general misunderstanding of the action taken by the Republican National Committee at its recent meeting in Washington City. The Committee listened to a debate on two proposed plans for constituting the next National Convention, and postponed till next year final action on methods and rules. But it unanimously adopted a resolution that it would embody in the call a recognition of the right of the several districts to select their own delegates. As to the duty of the Committee to obey the instructions of the Convention on this point, the Committee proved to be a unit; and there is no doubt that this great principle will be operative in the election of delegates to the Convention of 1884.

The question remaining open is, whether the district delegates shall be chosen by separate conventions held within the districts, or by the delegates from the various districts to the State Conventions. The former plan quite generally prevailed in the early history of the party. But the latter came to supplant it. Whence have come a brood of evils which finally threatened the peace of the party, and induced the Convention of 1880 to call a halt.

Another question for discussion is whether there shall be any representation based distinctly upon the Republican vote. One plan proposes that representation shall be based chiefly upon it. Another is, that the Convention be enlarged by the number of Republican Senators and Representatives in Congress; that one additional delegate-at-large shall be allowed to each Republican Senator; and that one additional district delegate shall be allowed to each Republican Representative. This is justified as a proper recognition of the fact of Republican supremacy in States and districts. Besides, it would to that extent increase the power of the Republican constituencies upon whom rests the burden of electing the candidates; and it would act both as a spur and reward to both States and districts.

NAME ONE!

The Commercial has now asserted that "several very respectable Republicans" informed it that the editor of this paper was opposed to giving a non-political character to the reception to ex-Senator Hamlin.

We denounce the statement as absolutely false, and the Commercial cannot and will not name any one Republican who told it such a falsehood.

"Gath" says the new Secretary of the Navy, Hunt, was a competitor at the bar of Judah P. Benjamin, Soule, and the best advocates in the South. He was always dressed in the most elaborate manner, and never spoke to the court but with white kid gloves on his hands. After Butler occupied New Orleans, Hunt was put in the Bastile for a while. After the war the Republicans took William H. Hunt, and I think he made one speech, when the Democrats threw eggs at him. From that moment he became a stalwart, and has never turned his face back. He was always a Unionist, but he never would have been an intense Republican but for those eggs. He is a man as large, or larger, than Conkling, and with a fine pair of eyes, and pretty evenly accomplished all through. If any of these naval officers come into his presence without epaulets and all the fixings, he will put the screws to them. They wanted style about the Navy Department, and now they are going to get it.

A Washington dispatch says: "So far Mrs. Garfield has made a splendid mistress of the White House. Of course, everything is new to her, but she has the assistance of Mrs. Blaine, whose acquaintance is far reaching, and who has an agreeable way of making people feel at home. The society people in this city who have met Mrs. Garfield are pleased with her. She has such a sincere, pleasing way that she makes an impression. Nor is she at all stuck-up because she happens to be in the White House. Any of her old friends about Mentor who call will find that she is the same as when they called at the Lawnfield farm. As to the mother, already a good deal of stock has been invested in her, and it appreciates day by day."

The Boston Journal tells this story as a warning to office-seekers: "It is said that when his uncle, the Hon. Thomas Ewing, was Secretary of the Interior under Fillmore, Mr. Blaine, then just out of college, asked him for a clerkship. Mr. Ewing could easily have granted the request, but he peremptorily refused, intimating that he would not consign a young man to such a hopeless life. He did, however, offer the present Secretary of State a quarter section of land in the West, which he did not accept. Mr. Ewing was one of the wisest men of his time, and he never did a young man greater service than he did Mr. Blaine when he refused him a clerkship."

A Greenback paper having stated that the cotton mills at Lewiston have never been run at their full capacity for eight years, the Lewiston Journal says that the report will be news to the people of that city, and adds that "before resumption, spindles were idle and there was no profit in manufacturing; but since resumption, every spindle has been busy, wages have improved, and manufacturing pays much better than any bank in the country."

Mr. Charles F. Wood, Assistant General Superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph Company for New England, has resigned on account of ill health and will go abroad.

The Commercial had no comment on the Boston Post's publication of Bass' yarn about his capture of President Grant.

The Boston Post, only a few months ago, was gleefully declaring that Blaine was "played out." Now it says: "The new Cabinet seems to be composed of James G. Blaine."

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

Whig and Courier.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 23, 1881.

BY TELEGRAPH.

MAINE NEWS.

MAINE CENTRAL RAILROAD.

BOSTON, March 22. At the annual meeting of the Maine Central Railroad stockholders at Augusta to-morrow the company's report for the year ending December 31st, 1880, will show gross earnings for the year of $1,726,712.84; operating expenses $1,067,148, leaving net earnings $659,564 08. Out of this sum $624,-[illegible] was paid on interest and rent, making the surplus credited to profit and loss account $35,491.60.

The directors in their report say, "that our net earnings do not exhibit a more satisfactory gain is due to the fact that not only with increased earnings came increased expenses, but also to the circumstance that the term 'Operating Expenses,' in our Treasurer's report includes not only ordinary expenditures in running trains, but also all sums paid for the improvement of permanent way, extension of station accommodations and the improvement of rolling stock, being in fact, all expenditures other than for interest and rentals."

The Ice Going Out.

BATH, March 22. The ice in the upper Kennebec and Androscoggin rivers has started and is now passing this city. The steamer Star of the East is being put in order and will be on the route to Boston the last of next week. The Boothbay steamers have been running a week.

FROM PORTLAND.

Sailing of Steamer.

PORTLAND, March 22. The steamer Lake Nepegon of the Beaver Line, sails for Liverpool to-night, with a full cargo, including 140 cattle and 280 sheep.

EX-SECRETARY SCHURZ

Tendered a Reception in Boston

BOSTON, March 22. A reception to ex-Secretary Schurz took place at the Hotel Vendome this evening. Mr. Schurz reviewed the Indian question and said he would leave his administration of Indian affairs to future judgment. Indian matters were in a very satisfactory condition. He alluded to the great prosperity of the country, spoke of the good results of the late administration, and elaborated to some extent his well known views on civil service reform.

Two hundred and fifty guests attended the Schurz banquet this evening.

THE EXTRA SESSION QUESTION.

What Senator Frye Has to Say.

BOSTON, March 22. The Journal's Washington special says, that Senator Frye, speaking of the probability of an extra session, says that if there could be one lasting not more than a month, and if a funding bill could be passed in that time no harm to business could result.

"But I doubt whether that could be expected if an extra session should be called and a funding bill brought into the House. Messrs. Randall and Carlisle would use the caucus to make Democrats oppose it solidly unless the provisions of the fifth section of the vetoed funding bill were included.

There would be a long discussion with a possibility that the Western Republicans would vote with the Democrats for the anti-bank feature of the bill.

I should expect to see efforts to discuss the tariff question. Besides, should the Republicans attempt to authorize an investigation of the Southern elections, the Democrats would probably resort to tactics of obstructions and no one could foretell when the session might end, for the Republicans have so small a majority in the House that it would be practically impossible for them to keep a quorum of their own members in Washington for any great length of time."

KILLED AND BURIED.

By a Stroke of Lightning.

FLORENCE, S. C., March 18. As James Best was crossing a field on his farm to-day he was instantly killed by a stroke of lightning, which tore up the ground where he had stood and buried him from sight. Mr. Best was seen just before the fatal stroke, and his disappearance produced great consternation among those persons who were watching him from their windows, and several ran out to fathom the mystery. They found a large hole, surrounded by heaps of dirt, but not a vestige of Mr. Best. After two hours' hard work with shovels his dead body was found at the bottom of the hole. The case is producing a sort of religious terror among the more ignorant and superstitious countrymen, and they look upon it as an omen of some terrible calamity.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Pressed Glassware Works to be Shut Down.

PITTSBURG, March 22. At a meeting of pressed glassware manufacturers this afternoon it was unanimously resolved to shut down the works eight weeks between May 1st and September 1st. It is believed this action will reduce the stocks of tableware nearly half a million of dollars.

Railroad Matters.

PHILADELPHIA, March 22. President Roberts of the Pennsylvania Railroad, speaking of the new arrangement with the Baltimore & Ohio Road, said: "We have entered into an agreement with the Baltimore & Ohio similar to that heretofore in operation between the two roads. We have begun receiving their freight and will carry their passenger travel as soon as the schedule can be changed."

MICHIGAN.

Murder Investigation.

DETROIT, March 22. In the Morris murder investigation to-day, Enos Guarde and Thomas O'Brien, companions of Plattner, who yesterday confessed to the murder, and who were also brought from the State Prison with him, denied all knowledge of the crime and denied ever having seen Plattner till months after the murder. Graham and Clark were held, however, for bail, on Plattner's testimony.

CANADA.

Sheriff's Sale of a Railway.

QUEBEC, March 22. The Levis & Kennebec Railway was sold to-day at Sheriff's sale at Levis. It was started at $50,000 and was finally adjudged to Jas. R. Woodward of Sherbrook, Manager of the Quebec Central, for $192,000.

Heavy Failure—Scarcity of Labor.

VICTORIA, B. C., March 22. Oppenheimer Bros., of Yale, have failed. Their liabilities in Victoria are very heavy.

There is a scarcity of labor on the railway works and laborers are offered $1.50 to $1.75 per day. Skilled labor is also in demand. Contractor Onderdonk is going east to get men.

The collieries are idle for want of ships to take away coal. River navigation continues open.

FROM ST. JOHNS, N. F.

The Seal Fishery—Railroad Matters, Etc.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., March 22. The steamer Leopard, the first of the sealing fleet, has just arrived with 15,000, a full load. She reports favorably. A good fishery is expected.

The railway debate is still occupying the local Parliament. It is pretty certain that the American proposals will be accepted and the road constructed by a New York company.

A small sealing craft was lost near Twillingate a few days since. Two men were drowned.

THE FALL RIVER SPINNERS' WAR.

FALL RIVER, Mass., March 22. Secretary Howard has issued the following call for a special general meeting of the Union on Thursday evening, under the heading "Chace Mill Tyranny":

Fellow workmen: Events have occurred within the past two weeks in some of the corporations in this city sufficient to excite the indignation of any lover of justice. The corporation representatives are not satisfied with allowing the lowest possible wages commensurate with living purposes, irrespective of excessive toil through high-speeded machinery, bad material; and many indirect advantages taken of us in other respects, have now commenced a system which had almost become absolete and which we thought had departed forever, that of making a man who may have had the courage to express his convictions upon any grievance that may be existing. Seven of our members have been discharged within a very short time without any reason being assigned. No valid complaints could be lodged against them. Admitted to be good and competent workmen, but for reasons not yet explained but easily be guessed at, they have been singled out, like sheep for the slaughter house, and informed that their services were no longer required. Who may be the next victim it is hard to foretell. Those who are least expecting it may be the next to be sacrificed. Therefore it behooves us to assemble together immediately and resolve upon some course of energetic and aggressive action that will successfully counteract the inhuman and cruel policy now being produced by the employers. This system of black listing is unjust, cruel and un-American and the time has arrived when a desperate effort should be made to stamp it out of existence. The manufacturers of to-day are endeavoring to keep alive the hideous sepulchural skeleton born in and by right belonging to past ages to scare workingmen from speaking their honest opinions as to their right to have a voice in adjusting what exchange they shall receive for their labors. Shall we stand by with cool indifference and witness this victimizing our best men without retaliating measures being resorted to? Your committee are unanimous in saying we shall not. If the worst has come, let it come. We cannot be treated much more unchristianlike or cruel than we are at present treated in many mills in this city. Let the hall be crowded on meeting night. Every spinner in the city should be present and steps taken to provide for the spinners now on a strike at Chace mill.

On behalf of the Committee.

(Signed) ROBERT HOWARD, Secretary.

WASHINGTON.

Republican Senatorial Caucus.

WASHINGTON, March 22. The Republican Senators met in caucus this morning but as there was not a general attendance they adjourned to meet after the session.

Nominations Confirmed.

The Senate in executive session confirmed a number of nominations, mostly New York and Pennsylvania appointments. Among the postmasters confirmed were Henry Little, at Auburn, Me., and John W. Crosby, at Milford, N. H.

The Rejected Resolution of Voorhees.

The following was Voorhees' resolution:

Resolved, That the hostile attitude assumed by the National Banks toward the refunding of the national debt at a lower rate of interest, and the recent attempt to dictate the legislation of Congress on that subject are contrary to the best interests of the people and well calculated to excite alarm for the future.

A Cabinet Session.

The Cabinet was in session two and a half hours to-day. There is no doubt but that the greater part of the session was devoted to considering the practicability of calling an extra session, but in reply to interrogatories the Cabinet officers decline to say whether a decision was reached, the reply being that nothing could yet be said regarding the matter.

WASHINGTON, March 22—11 P. M. There is a growing belief that the chances for an extra session are not so greatly diminished as seemed apparent early in the evening. A member of the Cabinet discussing the question after the Cabinet meeting to-day is reported to have been very emphatic in his assertion that the matter had only been argued pro and con and that it was by no means decided.

New Election of Senate Officers.

The Republican Senators this afternoon decided to offer a resolution to-morrow providing for a new election of Senate officers.

The following were selected by balloting: Chief Legislative Clerk, Charles W. Johnson, Minnesota; Chaplin, Rev. Byron Sunderland, Washington City. Messrs. Gorham, Young and Sunderland for several years prior to the incoming of the Democratic majority held offices to which the Republicans have again elected them.

Riddelbarger is a warm personal and political friend of Mahone, was a Colonel in the Confederate service and now editor and proprietor of a weekly "Readjuster" paper at Woodstock, Va.

Resigned.

R. D. Trowbridge, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, has resigned.

FORTY-SEVENTH CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, March 22.

The galleries were not more than half filled to-day.

Mr. Vorhees introduced a financial resolution on which he desires to speak at length to-morrow. Objection was made that it was legislative business and not in order at this session which was called for executive business and it went over.

After having been in open session for a quarter of an hour the Senate on motion of Mr. Burnside went into executive session.

When the doors were reopened at one o'clock the Senate adjourned until to-morrow.

In the House of Commons.

LONDON, March 22. Referring to the Transvaal difficulties Mr. Gladstone said, the conditions are the suzerainty of the Queen, British control of foreign relations and establishment of a British resident at the future capital. The Boers, however, are promised complete self-government. A Royal commission, consisting of Governor-General Sir Hercules Robinson, Gen. Sir Evelyn Wood and Sir John H. Devilliers will be appointed to consider the position of the natives, the regulation of frontier affairs, and the question whether any and what portion of territory eastward within a certain limit, shall be severed from Transvaal. The conditions also provide for the disposal of the Boers forthwith and the temporary maintenance of a British Governor, which, however, are not to intefere with local affairs. Gen. Wood promises not to advance or send warlike stores into Transvaal.

Mr. Forster stated that he had refused to furnish prisoners in Kilmainham jail with a statement of the words and acts constituting the ground of suspicion under which they are detained and to receive a written statement from each in reply. FEES OF DOCTORS.

The fee of doctors is an item that very many persons are interested in just at present. We believe the schedule for visits is $3.00, which would tax a man confined to his bed for a year, and in need of a daily visit, over $1,000 a year for medical attendance alone! And one single bottle of Hop Bitters taken in time would save the $1,000 and all the year's sickness.—Post

BURNETT'S COCOAINE FOR LOSS OF HAIR.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1, 1880.

Three years ago my hair was coming out very fast, and I was nearly bald. I was also troubled with dandruff. I began using BURNETT'S COCOAINE, and my hair immediately stopped coming out, and has constantly been getting thicker. My head is now entirely free from dandruff. My wife has used the COCOAINE with equally as gratifying results.

THE ACADEMY OF MUSIC. Owing to business engagements of the parties who were active in canvassing for subscriptions for the proposed Academy of Music, not much has been done for the past few weeks. The canvass has been commenced again in earnest. We learn that something more than half of the required amount has already been raised, and that the prospects are good for a successful completion of the enterprise. Success to it!

OBITUARY. Mr. Hugh Curtis, a venerable and highly respected citizen of Bowdoinham, is dead, at the age of eighty-one years. For more than half a century he had been closely identified with the interests of Bowdoinham and especially prominent in educational matters. For most of that time he was a member of the school board, and did very much to improve the town's schools. He had been a member of the Masonic order for sixty years, and was a devout Christian and a most useful member of the church.

LUMBERING. W. T. Pearson & Co., started up their mills at Great Works last week, having about six million logs on hand. It is expected that the other mills will start up next week, and the twenty millions of logs now on hand on the river will suffice to keep them busy until the new logs arrive. There are about two millions of lumber left over from last year in the docks now, and this with the iron, bricks and other things always on hand here will furnish cargoes for quite a respectable number of vessels before any new lumber is sawed, or the ice shipped.

ENTERTAINMENT. There was a very pleasant entertainment at the Universalist church last evening. It had been announced that among the features would be some stereopticon views, but Mr. Lovell was unable to meet the engagement and not wishing to disappoint the audience, members of the society called upon Mr. F. A. Eddy, who kindly loaned his stereopticon and with Mr. A. A. Bragdon, gave a very interesting exhibition. Some of the views were scenes at the Centennial, others scenes from abroad, and a few humorous views, the latter causing considerable amusement for the young folks. The musical part of the programme was finely rendered. Excellent refreshments were served during the evening.

RUNAWAY. A horse owned by H. L. Mitchell, Esq., created quite an excitement yesterday morning at about eleven o'clock. The animal came down Hammond street hill at full speed and bolted for the sidewalk in front of Mann's store, leaving the carriage piled up against a jigger that was standing in the vicinity. A number of boxes were out in front of Chapman's store and as the horse got badly mixed up with them some men succeeded in getting hold of the bridle before a fresh start was made. The carriage was wrecked and the horse received a few slight cuts. It was fortunate that no one was injured.

AN HISTORICAL SHIP. The barque Star of the West, Capt. Paine, which arrived at Portland, Monday, has quite a history. She was formerly the United States steamer R. R. Cuyler, and during the war was actively engaged as a blockade runner. After the war she was sold to the Prussian Government as a steam frigate, and is now in the merchant service, having been engaged in the China trade for several years past. The Star of the West is 1194 tons, and will carry 800,000 feet of lumber, one of the largest cargoes of lumber ever shipped to South America. She has a beautiful model, sailing without steam fifteen or sixteen miles an hour. When she entered the merchant service her engines were taken out.

AFTER THE SESSION. The Augusta Journal says: Augusta feels lonesome enough now that the Legislature has adjourned. The most dilatory member has packed up his trunk or carpet-bag, crowding in a big pile of stationery and a small library of documents, paid his board bill, and gone home. The hotels look deserted. We shall miss the law-makers and the urbane and pertinacious lobbyists. A session of the Legislature puts a good many thousand dollars into circulation in Augusta. Society feels the effects. Every branch of business is stimulated. The prospect is that we shall see our old friends next winter in special session. There are many important matters to be settled before a general election, will necessitate the convoking of the Legislature. A winter in Augusta without the Legislature would be as dreary as the play of Hamlet with Hamlet eliminated.

WEST WATERVILLE ITEMS. Our correspondent writes: The series of dances by the Engine Company, will close on the evening of April first with a sheet and pillow-case ball. Two weeks from that time a benefit ball will be given the Memorial Hall Association. The dancing season will close the first week in May, when the West Watervill Brass and Reed Band will give a grand promenade concert and ball. ——The band is rehearsing twice a week, and the Leader, Mr. J. Wesley Gilman, is about to go to Boston to purchase a lot of new instruments, including three trombones. After five years of attentive rehearsing the Band now ranks among the best, and is permanently established.——Mr. C. K. Sawtelle has sold his farm to Mr. Frank Small. The farm is one of the best in town.——The the traveling on all the roads leading to this village is very bad. ——Business promises to be good the coming season.

THE CALAIS COTTON MILL. The item copied from one of our exchanges stating that Calais was to have a $30,000 cotton mill, got spindles and dollars badly mixed. For some time past a number of the enterprising citizens of Calais have been at work on the cotton mill problem, and we learn from a gentleman residing in that city that the prospect is favorably entertained by capitalists, both at home and abroad, and its success now seems assured. Engineers arrived in Calais Monday and will make a survey of the location at once. It is the intention to build a mill containing 30,000 spindles at a cost of about $500,000. The mill will be located at what is known as Salmon Falls, at which point the water privilege is unexcelled. An enterprise of this magnitude would furnish employment for some five hundred persons and would be a grand thing for that section of the State.

AMUSEMENTS.

In the olio will appear Nathaniel Carle, announced as "the greatest slide trombone soloist" in the world; the "4 Invincibles" in songs and dances, Ripley and Reede in Musical specialties; Billy McAllister in stump speech; the $5,000 challege Pedestal clog dancers; Major Thomas in his lightning Battle Drill, and other features too numerous to mention.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS OLD.

Bath's Centennial.

"Magnificent Bath!" uttered a gentleman, as he gazed on the dazzling show made by Bath's riches, beauty and splendor, Friday evening. For weeks the city has been brushing itself up, and polishing itself,—busying itself in forgetting the commonplace, and losing itself in the contemplation of its centennial event. Bath has been getting herself out of her shipyards, out of her counting rooms, her banks, her briny warehouses, and away from her docks. She has thrown nautical lingo, and "shop-talk" about commissions, freights and tonnage to the dogs. There has been a revival of the arts,—of millinery and of the aesthetic in general. The exploits of the milliners and the dressmakers have been marvelous; and the fashionable artist tailor has artistically guided his shears through the ungraceful outlines of the claw-hammer, by night and by day. And so, on Friday evening, the ancient mariner found himself squeezing his bronzed hands into unseamanlike kids, and encasing his corns in patent leather agonies.

Bath's friends rallied from all parts of the State to share the honor of ushering in her centennial. About fifty people came up from Portland. The trains from Lewiston and the Kennebec took down large delegations. Bangor and the East were numerously represented. The hotels were filled up, even to the last room. Business was almost wholly abandoned in the mercantile quarter as soon as sunset. The unanimity with which the people took hold of the celebration was gratifying in itself. It seemed as if the whole city had nothing to do but celebrate, and was traveling on foot, and in multitudinous vehicles, toward a part of the city brightened by streams of light from hundreds of windows—the illuminated Patten Car Works.

The Ball.

The Works haven't heard the rattle-ty-clank of machinery for about three years, car-building having been a defunct industry in Bath for that time. When it was wisely decided by the Sir Knights of Dunlap Commandery, K. T. to surrender one night to jollity, before entering upon the serious business of the centennial celebration, some happy thinker suggested this disused structure as the correct place for the demonstration, and the idea was enthusiastically embraced. The Works are about three-fourths of a mile from the city. The main building is two stories high, and 150 feet long by 75 feet in width. A long, one-story wing runs out, 220 feet by 75, giving in all, a little over half an acre of ground floor. A better place for a brilliant congregation of the elite and beauty of the State, could not have been found.

The first floor of the main building was carefully planed and re-planed and waxed. It made a splendid surface for dancing. The decorations were simple, but set off the building nicely, consisting of three festoons of national colors around the ball-room. The ball-room was handsomely lighted by about 200 gas jets, arranged in temporary chandeliers. Ten thousand feet of gas were burned during the night. The second floor was utilized as a ladies' dressing room, and proved roomy and convenient for the purpose. The long, one-story wing was the banquet-room where five long tables, capable of accommodating 350 persons at one sitting, were placed. The orchestra was stationed on a raised platform in the ball-room and opposite was another platform with unlimited elbow room for the busy quill-drivers. Seats were built in tiers around the ball-room. Two thousand people could have found plenty of room in the building. There was dancing room for 500 couples. The sum of $500 was expended by Dunlap Commandery in renovating, arranging and decorating the Works.

The Knight Templar members of Dunlap Commandery and visiting Knights, were emblazoned in full regalia, and as a whole, there is no more imposing uniform. Among the visiting Sir Knights, were, Grand Commander of the Grand Commandery of Maine, John A. Bird, of Rockland, and Sir Knight J. F. Leavitt, Commander of St. John Commandery, of Bangor. Representatives of commanderies, at Portland, Augusta, Gardiner, Waterville and other places.

All the ladies' costumes were elegant, without exception, and ordinary gowns avoided the floor. The dancers were Maine's best people. Mrs. J. S. Smith, of Bangor, had one of the most striking costumes. It was a blue silk princess dress with puffings, and a brilliant old gold square plastron in front. Jewels—diamonds.

After the grand march came a ceremony which exhibited the esteem in which Dunlap's Sir Knights are held by the citizens of Bath. It was the presentation of a beautiful and costly new silk banner to the Commandery, from the citizens. All eyes were agape. The Commandery formed in line with unsheathed swords. The banner was brought forward. It is a double banner of purple and black silk, ornamented with heavy gold fringe and tassels. It bears the emblems of the order, worked in bright colors, the name of the Commandery, and the date of its organization, and the Knights' motto, "In hoc signo vinces." It cost about $250.

Centennial Day.

On Saturday the citizens of Bath, with large numbers of invited guests, assembled at the Wesley church, to do honor to the centennial anniversary of the incorporation of that part of Georgetown, known as the south parish of Georgetown, into a town, and the first town meeting of the town of Bath.

The exercises opened at ten A. M., with an organ voluntary by Miss Sadie Duncan. This was followed by choir singing, and prayer by Rev. Mr. Fiske, of Bath.

The city clerk, Seth O. Rogers, then read the act of incorporation of the town and proceedings of the first town meeting.

Then a poem was read by F. W. Hawthorn, Esq., after which came the

Mr. Nealley began by saying that we had come together like royal children about the family hearthstone to celebrate the green old age of our goodly city and bid her God speed as she starts further on the new century,—that this story of one hundred years was no tale of days of chivalry, and we pointed to no costly cathedrals, that attested the power of a church, nor to ruined castles that attested the way of feudal despots,—but could only tell of the settlement of rugged pioneers and their thrift and frugality which had given greater triumphs than those of Greece and Rome or knights of the middle ages, happy homes where all were free and equal before the law and at liberty to worship according to the dictate of their own conscience. A generous Providence had saved us from the record of desolations that Frederick Knickerbocker says makes the province of a historian of a great era. But yet our early history is not wanting in fascinating allurements. Weymouth's voyage in 1605 was particularly dwelt upon and McKeen's theory maintained, that he passed up the Sagadahoc and if so the first white men set foot upon the soil of Bath in June of that year. The sorrowful story of Popham's colony was glanced at, and the results discussed that might have followed if Popham's life had been spared to carry out the broad and humane views of his noble patrons thus anticipating the settlement at Plymouth by thirteen years and making this section the beginning point of New England civilization. From this a brief notice was made of the landing at Plymouth in 1620, as the point from which we drafted our real history, which even marked an epoch in the world's history. The salient points of Bath's special history followed especially allusions to the great shipbuilders of the past, but only in a general manner, because, as the speaker said, the appointed historian who had made the records of this region the study of a lifetime, made any detailed history unnecessary.

But it would be of little value to open this closed record save for the lessons for future guidance, that we might profit by the wisdom which had given us the prosperity under which we meet, and continue those principles which had brought us to this prosperity. Our fathers have left us these places and their duties—three-fold duties to the city, to the State and the Nation. Most of course and nearest the duties to the city to keep alive the old Puritan traditions and teachings, the public spirit, the religious feeling, the educational methods. Then the duty to the State, chiefly to extend that New England influence which has meant to our civilization its love of liberty and its broad nationality,—also to assist in working out the high destiny of the State. The speaker predicted that the rage for Western emigration was nearly over, as the limit of arable land had been almost reached by the emigrant and that the past resources of our own State would in future make it clear to the young man that his best field was among the traditions and people where he was born and reared. A picture was drawn of the resources of the State and its certain high future. Highest of all was the duty to the nation, to keep in this age of isms and innovating to the old landmarks and safeguards. The address closed with a picture of the hundred years of our national growth, all our prosperity being attributed to the corner stone of freedom on which we built, and which, from its success in the past, was the sure and strong hope of the future.

Loyal Flag Raising.

It is no longer "Rebel Corner."—Commercial.

The above-quoted line refers to the fact that the Grand Army of the Republic have gone into the heart of the country, and to-day Post Beale will hoist the Stars and Stripes over the loyal headquarters established in Dow's Block, on what has so long been known as "Rebel Corner."

MAINE CENTRAL RAILROAD.

Annual Report of the Directors and Treasurer.

The railroads of the United States exhibited for the year a decided and satisfactory increase in their gross earnings over the preceding year, and our reports show that the Maine Central had its share of the general improvement in business. That our net earnings do not exhibit an equally satisfactory gain is due to the fact that not only with increased earnings come increased expenses, but also to the circumstance that the term "operating expenses," in our Treasurer's report, includes not only the ordinary expenses of running of trains, but also sums paid for the improvement of permanent way, extension of station accommodations and improvement of rolling stock—being in fact all expenditures other than for interest and rentals. In the operating expenses for 1880, are included the new iron bridges at Brunswick, Skowhegan and in Portland; the substantial rebuilding of Long bridge at Farmington; the purchase and laying of 2,000 tons of steel rails; the construction and completion of a double track from Portland to Woodford's, and also from Waterville to Waterville Junction; the extensive improvements at Maranocook, and new stations at South Gardiner and other points, as well as extensive and valuable additions to our rolling stock.

The directors believe that Lake Maranocook will prove of great value as a source of revenue to the road. Trains have been run with great regularity and without serious accident, thanks to the careful and vigilant watchfulness of the Superintendent. The condition of the company's property is much better than a year ago, but it has been thought necessary to arrange for a considerable addition to the passenger and freight equipment during the coming season, which will be in readiness for use early in the approaching summer. Three thousand tons of steel rails have been purchased for delivery the present spring. It is not believed that large expenditures will be necessary for 1881. The Directors say that they had decided to pay the tax of $22,000 assessed by the State, though they deemed it unjust, when they were informed that the law was clearly unconstitutional, and that if they paid the same they would be personally liable to suit by any aggrieved stockholder. The question was therefore submitted to the Supreme Court. No decision has yet been given. The scheme of taxation which has been adopted by the present legislature will, the Directors think, make the tax bear more equitably on all classes of railroad property.

In closing their report the Directors refer to the death of the late Hon. J. B. Brown, as follows:

It is fitting that we should refer to the loss sustained by the stockholders and directors of this company, in the decease of the late Hon. J. B. Brown, whose counsel and aid were always so valuable in behalf of this corporation. His memory needs no eulogy from us, and we only record the fact that the Maine Central Railroad Company owes its present high position largely to his judicious and cheerfully rendered assistance and advice. His name should be held always in remembrance by those who follow us, as of one who was faithful to this, as he was to every other trust.

The report was drawn by President G. E. B. Jackson.

Resolutions of Sympathy.

Clifton Lodge, No. 48, I. O. of G. T., of Clifton, has adopted the following resolutions:

Whereas it hath pleased our Heavenly Father to remove from earthly scenes to the spirit land, our worthy brother, Rev. Erastus Gowen, therefore be it

Resolved, That we deeply mourn the loss of our brother, who was worthy of our respect and regard.

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize with his aged companion, and extend to her our warmest sympathy.

Resolved, That we sympathize with his neighbors, who shared his love, and may his religious influence fall on them, and, like Elijah's mantle, "Help them to live that life, that when they fall, they may fall like the righteous."

Resolved, That this heartfelt testimonial of our sympathy and sorrow be spread upon the records of the Lodge, and a copy thereof transmitted to the family of the deceased.

WHAT IS BEHIND IT?

No amount of money can stand in the stead of a good name. It is a blunder everywhere and every time to suppose the loss of character can be paid for. Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., proprietor of the great medicine called "Favorite Remedy," would have but little confidence to recommend the public to buy and use it if his own good name were not behind it. But the fact that he has staked his reputation upon it ought to be, and is, better than a thousand cheap certificates—in the opinion of the people. The Doctor is a regular physician-surgeon, and despises a humbug as heartily as any man. If you are sick with any complaint of the Blood, Kidneys or Liver, invest One Dollar the "Favorite Remedy," and it will speak for itself. d&w 2w mar18

AN HONEST PREPARATION.

The world is so crammed with swindles, that a really honest man or honest thing is almost as scarce as robins in January. Yet Mr. J. H. Northrop, of Lansingburg, N. Y., formerly captain of the Troy police, says Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is "an honest preparation." And the captain ought to know for the medicine cured him of Liver Complaint. It is mean enough to cheat a well man, but to cheat the sick and the suffering deserves a short shift and a long rope. Whatever sins Dr. Kennedy may be guilty of, misrepresentation of his medicine is not among them. Try it for One Dollar, or write to the Doctor at Rondout, N. Y. d&w2w mar18
